SUMMARY

3rd year RB who started 26 of his first 39 games with MIA. Performance issues and some minor injuries have prevented him from earning a starting role. Solid height/weight ratio, with good athletic agility and excellent play speed. Adequate instincts, vision and awareness, and identifies lanes on the front side of the play well with the ability to get to the edge using which can result in large gains. Uses burst and good balance to avoid tacklers. Displays ball awareness and solid hands in the passing game which are an asset, especially if he is delivered the ball in the open field where he can leverage his speed to maximize gains. Identifies blitzers well, and displays good posture, sets, and willingness in pass protection. Lacks awareness of cut-back opportunities, occasionally hesitates before hitting the hole, and rarely improvises. Avoids tacklers, relying on his speed rather than lateral elusiveness or power. Inadequate functional strength and competitive toughness in short yardage situations; can be overpowered by stronger blitzers when trying to anchor in pass-protection. Overall, this player has the agility and play speed to be a functional back, but could maximize his abilities by improving his vision, decisiveness in the hole, and competitive toughness. Appears to be suited as a 2-down player who platoons with another back.
