SUMMARY

Former 2nd round pick and a 2-year starter plays out of the slot and out wide. Average height and above average bulk for frame. Has a blend of quickness, agility, balance, and change of direction that are good for the position. His play speed is good enough to be effective in every area of the passing game. Sets up the defender with good footwork on the release by doing a good job of attacking the technique of a pressing or off coverage defender. Strength is solid to avoid getting re-routed by DBs and holds up well blocking in the run game. Displayed very good separation quickness at the top of routes using his understanding of DBs technique and timing out his acceleration and burst. His football instincts show up consistently because he has a very good understanding of route running, leverage, and coverages. Showed an ability to adjust to low thrown balls on deep crossing routes or curl routes on the edges. Concentration, tracking skills, and hands are evident in the intermediate game and in traffic. Has enough lateral agility to make the initial defender miss and get YAC. Aggressive, passionate demeanor executing his assignments and shows tremendous effort run blocking. Shows some issues adjusting and catching high thrown passes and will drop an occasional ball due to lack of concentration. Does not have great burst, acceleration off the LOS and is a long strider so it takes time for him to hit top speed. Must set up the defender and accelerate once he stops moving his feet - will not consistently stretch the field vertically or make an impact with yards after the catch. Overall, he is a savvy, athletic receiver who uses his high football IQ to set up his defender, create separation and make catches in traffic. He will fit in a system that finds creative ways to get him open and gives him the ability to adjust his route on the fly to take advantage of his natural instincts.
